Steve, et al,

Well Steve, I will have my new admin Shirley set up a time to discuss my aspirations with the team.

Russ,

Bottom line, I think we'd all like to understand where it is that the company mistreated you. After 29 years as a valued employee you are well compensated and have a great deal of autonomy in your activities. We are here to help ensure that you achieve the goals you have set for your career.

Regards,

Steve

Steve, et al,

Interesting response. I will do my best to address them as a meeting this year isn't something I think I will be able to find time for.

RE: Disciplinary action. This is a union shop Steve. I have been here for nearly three decades and have an exemplary record. You can certainly try to pursue disciplinary action against me, and feel free to throw out allegations of libel. Just know I have pictures. She should get that mole on her back looked at.

Side notes as I see the whole management chain is on here.

Bill – Thanks so much for the She-Beast inspiration. I am sure you recall the source of the quote as one of your comments about Linda Jones in Finance. The best part was that actually occurred the first day I started bringing an audio recorder to meetings.

Art – I appreciate the story about your crop dusting the “gals in the marketing department”. Flamer wouldn’t exist without you buddy.

I am sure there is someone on this thread that knows where The Gyno originated. Thanks for the inspiration you demented piece of crap.

Russ,

I am not sure you are appreciating the seriousness of the discussion we would like to have. I believe the prior email made clear that we found many of your latest creations to be of serious concern. The issue on the table is disciplinary action, up to and possibly including termination.

Your accusation regarding Shirley borders on being libelous. Please refrain from involving her in any future discussions.

Steve

Steve, et al,

First off, thank you for email. It is nice to have my contributions noticed. I'd like to see meaningful rewards for my contributions to the creation of a lucrative franchise, but a positive email is a good start. Perhaps by your calculations my $2,800 bonus this year reflects those contributions to the $6.2B Mystery Dog juggernaut.

Please do have Shirley schedule some time. I think she'll find my calendar is very full, but as she is the inspiration for Milkmaid I'd be more than happy to have her come over and discuss it personally. That is of course if you are done with her.

PS – The lactation clearly takes place at a frat party.

We would like to discuss your recent character choices

To: Russ Mantooth

Russ,

It has come to my attention via a number of sources that you are responsible for some questionable character creations, some of which made it into our screening process and were placed in front of young children. Among the most concerning characters are those found below, all of which we have extensive documentation on.

- 1) The Gyno – We have a full character bio from you on this character, but our concern here is obvious. As you describe this proposed villain, he is a car salesman who dresses up like a doctor and chases teenage girls around with a speculum.
- 2) Flamer – This character is highly questionable in a number of ways. Ultimately your short bio is disturbing. “Flamer is a high school girl that, after being farted on in chem lab, proceeds to carry torches around and lure her victims close. Once in striking distance she “blue flames” them, scarring them physically to match her emotional scarring”.
- 3) Milkmaid – In your documentation on this character you make numerous references to “big jugs” and even go as far as naming her Bigetta Jugsen. What may be worse is three animation cels you created that feature this character lactating in the faces of teenage boys.

- 4) She-Beast – A direct quote from your character bio “This one takes raging bitch to a new level seven days a month”. We are at a loss Russ.

We would like to discuss these choices in depth. You have been a very long-term, valued employee at Henna-Beerbura Productions and have numerous contributions over time. Mystery Dog and the Mystery Kids Mysteries was your proposal and it has turned into an extremely lucrative franchise for Henna-Beerbura. These extenuating circumstances make your choices incomprehensible to us.

My admin will be setting up some time on your calendar.

Steve
